Snowy Himlung Himal Expedition

Overview:

"Explore and experience the surprise of the Himalayas through the Snowy Himlung Himal Expeditions in spring and autumn of the year in the lap of Annapurna and Manaslu region near to the Tibet boarder on the Nar-Phu valley in the remote corner of Nepal."

Himlung Himal (Mt. Himlung) is Located in the lap of Manaslu and Annapurna Region at the northeast of the Annapurna range with an altitude of 7126m. The Mountain lies close to the Tibetan border in a remote corner of Nepal. The Himlung Himal was first climbed in 1992 by a Japanese team and had several further ascents afterwards. The mountain is technically easy to climb though due to the shadow of its own, the thick snowfield and extreme coldness it is not as easy as it is expected. We, Snowy Horizon, anticipate placing three camps above Base Camp that will be put in place by our strong Climbing Sherpa guide team.

Himlung Himal Expedition area previously was a restricted region; Nepal Government opened the region only in 1992. Expedition for Himlung Himal follows Round Annapurna route to Koto and from Koto towards Nar-Phu village. The route passes through high peaks and passes, glaciers, remote villages, narrow gullies, forests, rocks, springs, Gompas and unique cultural settlements. The expedition also offers mysterious culture and panoramic mountain views of Nanda Devi, Rajramba, API Himal, Kappa Chuli Peak and many more.

Since the area is remote and untouched very few tourists have visited the region. This is the country beyond, a wild and extremely beautiful mountain landscape full of erotic people, rapid rivers and pristine forest. Due to the remoteness of the region you will experience the Virgin Nature, off beaten path, mysterious culture and panoramic mountain views.

Although being easy as compared to other peaks, ascending to Himlung Peak require high fitness level. Himlung Himal is splendid peak in isolation with an awesome explorations trek to the top. Himlung Himal and the Mt. Baruntse are considered as alternative peaks to each other for the spring when the snow condition on one of the peaks is not so reliable. Both mountains are the stunning peaks in a remote location.

Snowy Horizon establishes the Base Camp at an altitude of 4,850m on a grassy land. While our strong Climbing Sherpa team set up camps, expedition members get the chance to climbing up & down for acclimatization. Three higher camps will be set up above the Base Camp. Camp 1 at 5,450m, Camp 2 at 6150m & Camp 3 at 6375m. The last part of the summit involves steep & icy climb. After summiting, you will descend to Camp 3 then to the Base Camp on the next day.
